ANNOUNCEMENT

J. M. Chenault, of Hendersonville, Tenn., has authorized us to advertise and sell his beautiful farm of 464 good, rich acres

—AT AUCTION—

Saturday, November 12, 1921

At 10:30 A. M., on the Premises

One-half mile south of the thriving little city of Hendersonville, Tenn., with its splendid high school and good churches, 15 miles from Nashville, and only one-half mile from Interurban line, on the Walton Ferry Pike. This is one Summer County's best and most beautiful live-stock and grain farms—in fact, one of the best in the State—and is known as the Seawright estate. This farm has more than a mile of Pike frontage, with its broad acres covered with blue grass and fine old forest trees. Besides all of its good blue grass and rich fields, it contains 163 acres in cultivation of Cumberland river bottom second to none. This farm is fenced and cross-fenced with woven wire and in a high state of cultivation.

Improvements consist of a beautiful ten-room home lighted with electricity, which sets well back on the lawn, with elegant driveway and clubhouse, two good tenant houses, one silo, four good barns, and all necessary outbuildings. Watered by four good wells, one pond, two springs, and river.

Immediately after this great old estate is closed out at auction all the live stock, corn, oats and hay, hogs and machinery—in fact, all the equipment necessary to handle a farm of this kind—will be sold to the highest bidder.

TERMS: 1-4 cash, balance on equal payments of 1, 2 and 3 years, with 6 per cent interest

Old-Fashioned Barbecue Dinner Served on Grounds.

For any information, or to be shown this farm before day of sale, write, wire, or phone

THE STORY OF HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK

By M. V. ATWOOD.

Once upon a time a country editor had a great idea. This is not the first great idea which has been evolved in a country print-shop, but most of these ideas in the past have been of benefit to some one other than the editor. But the idea was to benefit editor as well as the whole community and nation.

This was the idea: Why not have a "home paper week?"

We have had every kind of a "week" from soap to electric cleaners. Taken together, argued the editor, the country newspapers are quite the most important in the nation, even if judged by numbers; the ten or fifteen thousand of them make the four hundred big city papers and magazines seem inconsiderable, indeed.

The reason most folks do not realize the importance of the country newspaper is because they think of them individually instead of collectively; even the Atlantic ocean doesn't look very impressive when you view it merely as a cupful of water scooped up at the beach.

So this country editor began to talk about the idea and to write letters to any one who he thought might be interested. But like all great ideas, it took a long time for it to grow.

Finally a company which has done much to teach country publishers the value of system and of knowledge of costs took it up, as did also the National Editorial Association; then the state colleges of agriculture saw its possibilities because of the effect on community life; another great concern which furnishes thousands of country papers with syndicate news and features became interested; and, of course, the publishers' trade journals fell into line.

Thus a great chain of interest in "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week" has been stretched across the country, each of the thousands of country papers, of which this paper is one, a link in the chain.

November 7th to 12th are the dates set for "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week," and all who believe in the home town paper, in its possibilities for helpfulness, for creating community solidarity, for the cherishing of the homely and sacred things of the country, are being asked to help—to help, not because the country editor needs charity, but because the country newspaper is a great service agency, dignified, stable, worthy of every cent which the community invests to make it possible.

So you are asked to help make "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week" the big success it is going to be. If you do not now take your home paper, don't delay subscribing later than the week of November 7-12.

HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK.

People of the United States will be afforded an opportunity during the week of November 7th to 12th to express in concrete form their gratitude to those men and women, who through sunshine and rain, prosperity and adversity, persistently and consistently sing the song of the home town. The time long since passed when newspapers, whether daily or weekly, can subsist on the "taking it for granted" spirit of its patrons and well wishers. Costs of producing newspapers today have not decreased in anything like the proportion experienced in other lines and figures quoted recently by daily and weekly newspapers through the country have given the public a glimpse into the expense incidental to conducting the home paper.

To the newspaper men and women of each community has fallen the task of presenting the current events of a fast-moving world in accordance with the modern ideas, more or less extravagant, and keeping a smiling countenance and a courageous heart when others are prone to talk "hard times." Their loyalty to the state and their community has undergone a severe test but they met it with optimism and only a little reflection is required to show how much worse conditions might have been before the turn in the road was reached, had they pursued a different course.

Advertisers had to keep advertising whether they could pay promptly or not and business had to be kept going for the general good. The publishers and editors did their part and the second week in November is proclaimed a time when those who benefited by this policy can express it in terms of support that will insure the future of the small town paper, the backbone of every community that has the semblance of pride in itself and its neighbors.
